Dear Colleagues, Friends & Students

Bareilly (Bans- Bareilly, Jhumka town, Nath Nagri) is one of the important districts of Uttar Pradesh. It is the erstwhile capital of Rohilkhand division. The city is an important commercial centre in North India and has several large and small scale industries. Bareilly is also famous for its Surma (Kohl), Zari work and cane furniture manufacturing & export all over the world. The city situated on the banks of river Ram Ganga has a rich heritage and long history to boast about.

It gives us immense pleasure in informing you that the Department of Pathology, Rohilkhand Medical College & Hospital, Bareilly & Rohilkhand Academy of Pathology are organising the 67th National conference of IAPM & IAP-ID (APCON-2018) at Rohilkhand Medical College & Hospital, Bareilly from 28 Nov-2 Dec 2018.

Rapid advancements in all the fields of diagnostics make such academic events an important milestone in the career of teaching as well as practicing pathologists. The best time to visit is from October to February. It would be a pleasant weather with light woolens required. The organising committee is striving hard to make this event a memorable one.
